Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer image file is objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes.

The image shows a girl in her early to mid-teens posing naked and displaying her genitals for the camera. The purpose of the image is to sexually titillate or arouse people with a sexual interest in young people. The computer image file encourages this sexual interest and legitimises the idea that it is acceptable for adults to become sexually aroused by underage girls. Such images also advance the idea that young teenagers are available for adult sexual gratification.

The classification of this publication interferes with the freedom of expression as set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990, but this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications falling under s3(2) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 are deemed to be objectionable. The classification is also a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression that reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to limit the availability of publications that promote and support the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes.
